Gospel Meditation:

This morning I received a text message that a member of my extended family will likely die of cancer within the next few hours. His name is Luke. He is a 45-year-old husband and father of six.

Though I am not as close to him as my sister (she is his sister-in-law and knows him well),

I wonder: how can we, including Luke himself, manage such a terribly awful and unfair situation?

The words of this Sunday's Gospel offer a powerful and challenging path.

Jesus says, "If any want to become my followers, let them deny themselves and take up their cross and follow me" (Mark 8:34). Today I see with new freshness the starkness and strangeness of the words take up.

The cross stands for suffering which is unjust, absurd, seemingly hopeless, and humiliating. Jesus doesn't say "accept" or "endure" or "tolerate," but "take up." Embrace it, actively. Choose it and lift it up for others to see what terrifies and sickens us. But somehow, for Jesus, this is the path to "saving one's life."

A new world is breaking in, one in which love is everything, when no relationship can be wounded or die.

I trust that in the embraced suffering of Luke and his loved ones, Jesus is taking up his cross and saving us.

By the time you read this, barring a miracle, Luke will have died. He will be carrying his cross no longer.

But we all still face suffering. This week let's not just endure, but take up our crosses, big and small.

That's our only hope for saving our lives.

— Father John Muir

Meditación del Evangelio:

Esta mañana recibí un mensaje de texto en el que me decían que un miembro de mi familia probablemente morirá de cáncer en las próximas horas. Su nombre es Lucas. Tiene 45 años, esposo y padre de seis hijos. Aunque no estoy tan cerca de él como mi hermana (ella es su cuñada y lo conoce bien), me pregunto: ¿cómo podemos nosotros, incluido el propio Luke, manejar una situación tan terriblemente horrible e injusta?

Las palabras del Evangelio de este domingo ofrecen un camino poderoso y desafiante.

Jesús dice: "Si alguno quiere venir en pos de mí, niéguese a sí mismo, tome su cruz y sígame" (Marcos 8:34).

Hoy veo con nueva frescura la crudeza y la extrañeza de las palabras. La cruz representa el sufrimiento injusto, absurdo, aparentemente desesperado y humillante. Jesús no dice "aceptar" o "soportar" o "tolerar", sino "adoptar". Acéptalo activamente. Elígelo y levántalo para que otros vean lo que nos aterroriza y nos enferma.

Pero de alguna manera, para Jesús, este es el camino para "salvar la vida de uno".

Un nuevo mundo está irrumpiendo, uno en el que el amor lo es todo, en el que ninguna relación puede ser herida o morir. Confío en que, en el sufrimiento abrazado de Lucas y sus seres queridos, Jesús está tomando su cruz y nos está salvando a todos.

Para cuando usted lea esto, a menos que ocurra un milagro, Lucas habrá muerto. Ya no cargará con su cruz.

Pero todos seguimos enfrentándonos al sufrimiento. Esta semana no solo aguantemos, sino que recojamos nuestras cruces, grandes y pequeñas. Esa es nuestra única esperanza para salvar nuestras vidas.

— Father John Muir

Making your Grief Count

Grief during the Holidays is always challenging. The holiday season renews memories, family ties, and traditions. We become painfully aware that our loved one is no longer present, and the pain of the loss is confused with the spirit of the season making it difficult for families to navigate.

We live with an added layer of collective grief and vulnerability. Learning to navigate a changing world combined with the sorrow of our loss causes us to grieve on many levels.

How do we allow ourselves in these difficult times, to "make our grief count" and find our grounding?

This workshop will help identify internal and external resources that contribute to self-compassion and enhance resiliency. It will help families embrace their grief while strengthening characteristics of resilience.

Participants will use the holidays to discover how their loved one can live on into their life story, using this special time to continue to heal.

Life Chain is a peaceful, prayerful public witness of pro-life individuals standing for an hour praying for our nation, for the protection of women & children and an end to abortion. It is a visual statement of solidarity by the Judeo-Christian community that abortion harms women and kills children and that the church supports the sanctity of human life from the moment of conception until natural death.
